A "SKIPPING" EPIDEMIC.

Unusual Happenings Which Have Excited Carbondale for a Week.

Local happenings of the past few days, which in the aggregate are un-precedented, have caused no small detree of excitement throughout the city. There has been a well defined "skip-ping" epidemic and the moral philosophers are called upon to cope with an insidious microbe peculiar to this disease which is apparently conta-

While Hanes' flight was still fresh in memory came the Hotel American-Jacobus episode. Simultaneously with this, the Anthracite barber, W. T. Blaisdell, pocketed the loose razors and left for parts unknown, leaving a board bill and other small debts unpaid. Myron B. Bowdish, son of a Brooklyn, N. Y., Methodist preacher, stamped Carbondale dust from his feet without first lining the palm that fed him, and to add strangeness to the confused community, even the gamblers left their accustomed haunts to avoid the hand of the law and were seen free and unoccupied during the evening hours. Mr. Blaisdell had seemed to be doing a prosperous business and his rent was raised from a low figure to $25 a month, but he disposed of that by subtracting $25.

Mr. Bowdish is the bewhiskered young man with auburn hair and polished manner who made free use of the Cycle club rooms, and trifled with several members who loaned him small sums. For their generosity he promised to donate a year's subscription to the Outing magazine. He also engrafted himself into the good graces of the newly organized Sons of Veterars and promised to send them a gold trumpet when he returned home, His occupation was estensibly selling encyclopedias.

Then in the midst of all this Mr. Yates, who holds the secret of the flux of the promising anti-rust metal and who has been experimenting at the Hendrick works for months past, tried to move away without paying up, and caused Constable Gilby severat sleepless nights in watching his cents on the dollar and was permitted
